El segon volum (1880-1884) inclou, fonamentalment, l'obra catalanista del seu període per essència, com ara el gruix dels articles del "Diari Català" i les intervencions en el Congrés Catalanista i en el Centre Català, així com l'ampli ventall de col·laboracions en publicacions varies (de "La Il·lustració Catalana" a "L'Avenç", passant per "L'Arc de Sant Martí"). Recull també els textos que dedicà als seus models d'Estat —Suïssa i els Estats Units—, que són constants referències modèliques en el conjunt d'articles i llibres de la seva obra. Destaquem també l'interès de les cròniques de viatges per Europa, que publicà en la premsa diària, com les aparegudes en "La Renaixença" i "El Diluvio".

After Aggie Dunkirk's career is unceremoniously ended by her own mistakes, she finds herself traveling to Wisconsin, where her grandmother, Mumsie, lives alone in her rambling old home. She didn't plan for how eccentric Mumsie has become, obsessing over an old, unsolved crime scene--even going so far as to re-create it in the dollhouse. Mystery seems to follow her when she finds work as a secretary helping to restore the flooded historical part of the cemetery. Forced to work with the cemetery's puzzling, yet attractive archeologist, she exhumes the past's secrets and unwittingly uncovers a crime that some will go to any length to keep quiet--even if it means silencing Aggie. In 1946, Imogene Flannigan works in a local factory and has eyes on owning her own beauty salon. But coming home to discover her younger sister's body in the attic changes everything. Unfamiliar with the newly burgeoning world of criminal forensics and not particularly welcomed as a woman, Imogene is nonetheless determined to stay involved. As her sister's case grows cold, Imogene vows to find justice . . . even if it costs her everything.

In this volume, Kathleen Jeffs draws on first-hand experience of the Royal Shakespeare Company's rehearsal room for the 2004-05 Spanish Golden Age season to put forth a collaborative model for translating, rehearsing, and performing Spanish Golden Age drama. Building on the RSC season, the volume offers methodologies for translation and communication that can feed the creative processes of actors and directors, while maintaining an ethos of fidelity with regards to the original texts. It argues that collaboration between academics and theatre practitioners was instrumental in the success of the season and that the work carried out has repercussions for critical debate of Comedia. The volume posits a model for future productions of the Comedia in English, one that recognizes the need for the languages of the scholar and the theatre artist to be made mutually intelligible by the use of collaborative strategies, mediated by a consultant or dramaturg proficient in both tongues. This model applies more generally to theatrical collaborations involving a translator, writer and director, and will be useful for translation and performance processes in any language.

The Casa del Menando hoard was found by Professor Amedeo Maiuri in 1930, in the course of the excavation of the Insula of the Menander. There has been no study of it as a whole since Maiuri's publication of 1933. The silver, one of the three largest groups of Roman plate of the first century AD, is the only one which has been found and recorded under modern conditions, and demonstrates what plate was in use in Pompeii in the period of the disasters of AD 62 and 72. The treasure includes two hoards, hidden in the same chest, one consisting of 118 pieces of silver plate, the other of coins and jewellery. Maiuri thought that the hoards, and therefore the house, belonged to the top level of Roman society; but this study suggests that they belonged to a rich citizen of Pompeii, who may have been a local magistrate.

Jaume Collell, amb El músic de l'americana vermella, ha escrit la biografia vibrant i plena de vida d'un dels músics més excepcionals i desconeguts d'aquest país: Joan Viladomat, i, alhora, la història de la Barcelona del Paral·lel, la més insòlita, bigarrada i divertida que es recorda. Durant els anys vint Barcelona és xauxa: les dones fumen i porten cotxe, els cafès tenen orquestra i als teatres s'hi fa striptease, boxa i circ. Els artistes alcen la indústria del sarau enmig de meuques i crupiers. Joan Viladomat, amb el bigoti conspicu i l'armilla descordada, posa en solfa el vici, del bracet de Garzo, Misterio, Amichatis, els Santpere, també els poetes de l'Espanya negra. Ensinistra cançonetistes a l'acadèmia, ven cuplets per un ou ferrat i toca el piano amb una americana llampant. Es mofa del catalanisme i el feminisme, dels transsexuals i els cubistes. Compon sardanes, tangosi sarsueles del género ínfimo. El músic porta sotana els anys de seminari. Del bressol tèxtil, prop del Ter, el seu «Fumando espero» aviat arriba a les ribes del Plata. El 1926 es fan més de 500 funcions del quadre líric El tango de la cocaína al teatre Victòria. Li editen pasodobles a París i foxtrots a Berlín i Nova York. Dedicat «Catalunya plora» a la mort d'Àngel Guimerà, que no para de sonar, d'Emili Vendrell a Los Relámpagos, tal com el popularíssim «El vestir d'en Pasqual», de Núria Feliu a Hidrogenesse. No surt a l'Enciclopèdia Catalana, però els seus èxits s'escampen per Europa i Amèrica, i de Tòquio a Sydney, des dels discos de pissarra fins a la televisió per cable i YouTube.

Unable to secure a full livelihood in either Mexico or the United States, migrants from the rural village of Napizaro in central Mexico must extend their families, and their community, across the border. The lives of Napizarenos demonstrate the difficulties of reproduction in a transnational context, calling into question the way we think about households, families, and communities. La Casa de Mis Sueños examines the efforts of villagers from Napizaro to build their dream houses in Mexico through participation in transnational migration. New house designs reshape the spatial ordering of everyday life and are part of the recreation of social space in a changing economic and moral landscape. These changes have engendered conflict as migration usurps traditional routes to prosperity and success and as migrant houses become both the locus of growing consumerism and a site for heavily charged and contested ideas about family and community. This book is more than an engaging account of the realities that pervade one small community. It is an examination of the ways in which global processes penetrate the local, the daily, and the personal in rural Mexico. Above all, it asserts the power of place as constitutive of the ways in which people create meaning in their lives.

Casa de nines és sens dubte l'obra més traduïda d'Ibsen, la més representada i la més discutida. Nora, la protagonista del drama, abandona el domicili familiar perquè el seu marit no és la persona que ella pensava. De fet, però, Nora deixa la família i la casa perquè no sap qui és. No fui, no es revolta, tan sols vol «ser», educar-se ella mateixa. I per això està disposada a sacrificar-ho tot, incloent-hi els fills. L'elecció de Nora -feminisme a banda- és, abans que tot, un acte d'afirmació individual. Com diria Ignasi Iglésias, «un individualisme que tendeix a enrobustir la voluntat, fent-nos més conscients, més forts».

En aquesta obra s'ofereix una nova lectura de Mort de dama (1931) i Bearn o la sala de les nines (1956, 1961), de Llorenç Villalonga. Els capítols sobre Mort de dama n'analitzen les peculiaritats de l'estructura i el caràcter autoreferencial; l'assaig sobre Bearn argumenta que el món bearnès és una ficcionalització de la teoria dels cicles històrics d'Ortega i proposa llegir la història a través del filtre que proporciona Le Docteur Pascal, d'Émile Zola.

"This collection of essays invites the contemporary reader to consider the works of Pedro Calderon de la Barca (1600-81), who became the most important and influential dramatist of the second period of the Spanish Golden Age, just as Lope de Vega (1562-1635) was for the preceding generation. A follower of Lope in his youth, Calderon, as a mature playwright, developed a drama all of his own, a drama that was highly conceptual, tightly knit, symbolic, and, in many cases, spectacular. Calderon's artistry in verbal and visual symbolism made the performance of his works a feast for both the senses and the intellect." "Until now, many of Calderon's critics have focused their attention on how the poetic devices, particularly metaphors and symbols, appearing in his plays represent his philosophy or his ideas. But as some scholars of Spanish Golden Age drama have argued, the study of Calderon's theater must take into account not only the literary text, but also the physical conditions of the stage, the elements used in the representation - decor, costumes, lighting, music - and the house dynamics at each performance. In other words, each play must be considered as a composition of the soul and body, of poetry and spectacle, in which both elements support, complement, and explain one another in performance." "This is the task that has been undertaken by the contributors to this volume. By focusing on the relationship between text and performance, they have highlighted several areas that are often overlooked in traditional text-based approaches. From different perspectives, they show how Calderon gives concrete shape to the concepts and tales from the Bible, theology, mythology, the Corpus Hermeticum, emblematic literature, philosophy, and realities of civic and domestic origin."--BOOK JACKET.Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America, Inc.
