Charles Spurgeon's bestselling daily devotional is back in a beautiful keepsake package For more than 150 years, Morning by Morning has provided millions of readers encouragement, challenge, and thought-provoking insight from the pen of one of history's most beloved preachers, Charles H. Spurgeon. Spurgeon's sermons and other writing have touched countless lives, and his insight into perseverance through times of trial while relying on God's immeasurable strength still speaks to readers today. This fantastic gift edition of Spurgeon's bestselling daily devotional contains the complete, original daily text. Morning Dew Drops Darolt Books Humanity must have food and drink each day in order to survival. Humanity must pause for a time of rest each day in order to maintain the strength to perform the task of the following day. Humanity must enter into some type of relationship with another person each day unless he began to feel isolated and inferior. Just as the physical and psychological aspects of man must have certain needs met each day, so must the spirit of man. We may go with the flow for awhile, but deep within the confides of humanity is the soul. And that soul must experience and enjoy a renewal. Such renewal is found in a daily relationship with the Creator of life. Man must pause from his daily routine and purposefully focus on the Word of God which in turn will enrich, encourage and enable him to face each circumstance and condition that a day's activities may confront him. The Bible declares, they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint (Isaiah 40:31 KJV). Within the pages of this daily devotional, you will find strength, stability and satisfaction awaiting you each step of every day.

"Heaven's Dew Drops" is a devotional that contains individual messages prepared over a period of time, and are intended to give its readers an understanding of how the Written Word is packed with "Hidden Manna" for the spirit. As Manna fell for the children of Israel during the night, and settles as dew upon the ground to be gathered early in the morning for food to the natural body, surely, "His heavens shall also drop dew" Deuteronomy 32:28b, spiritual food for the spirit. The Lord Jesus is, not only the Living Bread that came down from heaven, but also the Living Word who came to give life. Speaking of the Word, it says, "The Word became Flesh, and dwelt among us, and we beheld His glory...." John 1:14. The Lord Jesus Christ who became that living Word spoke and as He did, there was an impartation of "Spirit and Life" to all who had ears to hear. As the natural man needs to feed his body daily in order to maintain a healthy physical being, even so one must feed his spiritual body to grow and mature spiritually. It is through the impartation of the anointed Word, that such growth and development take place. This devotional is part and parcel of a catchment that receives God's dew (His Word) which is designed to help feed and nourish the spiritual life, and to cause a deeper hunger for the truths of His Word to grow thereby. As each message is prayerfully read with an open and worshipful attitude and receptivity, the needed food will be imparted into your spirit, thus causing an enlargement of the very life of the Lord Jesus Christ to take place within your being. Yvonne Sutton Eason was born and raised on the island of Jamaica, where she was married to Herman (Tony) Eason. Soon after that, they moved to the United States. Yvonne and Tony have two children, Kimberly and Ian, who are now adults. Yvonne was trained to be a teacher and she spent many years teaching the elementary grades in both Christian and public schools. When she and her husband retired, they moved from their home in central New Jersey to their present home in Bucks County, Pennsylvania. Much of her life includes her roles of wife, mother, grandmother and teacher.

Family Prayers is a message of meditation based on the Bible and written by John Ross Macduff (23 May 1818 – 30 April 1895) was a Scottish divine and a prolific author of religious essays. He published many practical and devotional works which attained a wide circulation. Born on his father's estate of Bonhard, Scone, Perthshire, Macduff was the second of the six sons of Captain Alexander Macduff of Bonhard and Springfield and Margaret Catherine Ross, youngest daughter of John Ross of Balgersho. Macduff was educated at the High School of Edinburgh and the University of Edinburgh, and was ordained as minister of Kettins, a parish in Forfarshire close to his maternal grandfather's estate, in 1843. He was transmitted to St Madoes, a parish in Perthshire centred around the Pitfour estate owned by his mother's cousin, Sir John Stewart-Richardson, in 1849. He left St Madoes to take charge of Sandyford, a new church in the affluent west end of Glasgow in 1855. He was married in 1844 to Anne Joan Seton, who died in 1846, and in 1849 to Louisa Stephen, who died in 1888. By Anne Seton, he had a son, Alexander Ross Macduff (1845–1857) and by Louisa Stephen he had a daughter, Anne Seton Macduff (1850–1929), who edited his later works, including his autobiography, "The Author of Morning and Night Watches". He preached at Sandyford for fifteen years (until 1870), and then went to live in Chislehurst, Kent, in order to focus entirely on writing. His best-known books were "The Prophet of Fire", "Memories of Bethany", "Memories of Gennesaret", "The Shepherd and His Flock", "Sunset on the Hebrew Mountains", "Comfort Ye", "The Golden Gospel", "Morning and Night Watches", "The Bow in the Cloud", "The Story of a Dewdrop", and "The Story of a Shell." In 1857, whilst in Glasgow, he was appointed by the General Assembly a member of their Hymnal Committee. His 31 hymns appeared in his Altar Stones, 1853, and were also included with his later poems in his The Gates of Praise, 1876. His hymn, "Christ is Coming, let Creation" is still included in the Church of Scotland's Church Hymnary 4. Macduff died at his home, Ravensbrook, Chislehurst in 1895.

As a child I went through some hard times. Being raised in a Christian home with challenges I learned early to trust in Jesus. He is and has been my anchor all my life. Not to say there haven't been tests. God has been my sure protection and supports me through my life verse. "Whatever you do, work at it with all your heart, as working for the Lord, not for men, since you know that you will receive an inheritance from the Lord. It is the Lord Christ you serve. "Col 3:23 After the Second World War everything was changing. My parents took our young family from east-ern Canada to go 'west' for employment. In this book I make some references to personal childhood memories for the purpose of drawing out a truth God planted deep in my heart. Having a sensitive spirit God gave me insights. I hope you will glean value from the pages of some of the seasons I've traveled. Always a good student, I loved to write. As a young adult I quickly used my writing to do plays, skits, and comedy in church life. I was the church historian and also as the secretary to the board I kept accurate records of meetings. It is vital that we keep renewing our spirits to survive in a world gone crazy. Draw close to those you love and stimulate their connections to God. Through love and mercy we nurture our minds daily with the living word of God. Read an article and see what God is saying to you. They are really just bite sized portions.

Morning by Morning Charles H. Spurgeon's devotionals Morning by Morning and Evening by Evening have inspired, encouraged, and challenged Christians for generations. Spurgeon, with his masterful hand, carefully selected his text from throughout the Bible and covered a broad range of topics, in order to present a well-balanced and fruitful daily devotional for readers both young and old. Now updated into more-modern English for today's readers, and again separated into two volumes as originally published, with morning devotionals in one volume and evening devotionals in the second. We chose a 11-point font for the sake of legibility, and formatted the devotionals so each fits on a single page. January 1 (Sample Devotional) They ate some of the yield of the land of Canaan during that year. (Joshua 5:12) Israel's weary wanderings were over, and the promised rest was attained. There would be no more moving tents, fiery serpents, fierce Amalekites, and howling wildernesses. They came to the land that flowed with milk and honey, and they ate some of the produce of the land (Joshua 5:11). Perhaps this year, beloved Christian reader, this may be your case or mine. The prospect is joyful, and if faith is active, it will yield absolute delight. To be with Jesus in the rest that remains for the people of God (Hebrews 4:9) is an encouraging hope indeed, and to expect this glory so soon is a double delight. Unbelief shudders at the Jordan River that still flows between us and the good land, but let us rest assured that we have already experienced more affliction than death at its worst can cause us. Let us dispel every fearful thought and rejoice with exceedingly great joy in the prospect that this year we will begin to be forever with the Lord (1 Thessalonians 4:17). A part of the multitude of saints will remain this year on earth to do service for their Lord. If we are in this group, there is no reason why the New Year's text should not still be true. We who have believed enter that rest (Hebrews 4:3). The Holy Spirit is the pledge of our inheritance. He gives us "glory begun below." In heaven they are secure, and on earth we are preserved in Christ Jesus. There they triumph over their enemies, and we have victories too. Celestial spirits enjoy communion with their Lord, and this is not denied to us here on earth. There they rest in His love, and here we have perfect peace in Him. They sing His praise in heaven, and it is our privilege to do the same here. We will gather celestial fruits on earthly ground this year, where faith and hope have made the desert like the garden of the Lord. Man ate angels' food long ago, and why can we not do so now? O for grace to feed on Jesus and to eat of the fruit of the land of Canaan this year!
