My interest in poetry started as a child when my mother recited poems to me. I read and write poetry; this is my third published book.

The Child Inside is a delightful book of childhood stories and original poems, which span from the writer's childhood to her present life. It is a collection of nostalgic memories, followed by the poems that those memories inspired. The wonderful poetry and singsong style of each verse will enrapture children and keep them happy for hours. These narratives capture the imagination no matter the age of the reader, and the illustrations connect you in a special way to the places and characters these poems portray, whether they be a pair of naughty pumpkins or a little girl who lost her mittens playing in the snow. The engaging pages of this charming book carry readers from their own beds to neighborhood farms all the way to Santa's workshop. Each journey is fantastically told through recollections of youth and anecdotes, which are warm, familiar, and heartfelt. The sincere prose and exceptional verse contained within will make you want to read each one again and again.

"Dion Graham's confident, enthusiastic narration powerfully depicts a young African-American boy who is beginning to identify who he is in the world. Quincy Tyler Bernstine adds a dynamic array of female voices. No detail is overlooked in this production.... Realistic sound effects link the audio to the pictures and reflect the story's urban setting."-AudioFile

Spooky Doings is a collection of grotesque Halloween poems that will certainly get your blood pumping around this special holiday! This book is great for the whole family! It contains different sections of poetry, which include Haunting and Sightings. The Haunting contains text about different spooky things happening, usually from the haunters' point of view. The Sightings are excerpts that contain information about spooky happenings. The poems contain content about ghosts, different dimensions, demons, hell, monsters, ghouls, black cats, gross subjects, trick-or-treating, mental disorders, murder, possession, witches, and more! Enjoy this sample of my writing: "Trick or treat!" "Trick or treat?" The children sing-song. "Are we-- are we--- are we-- good enough to eat?" Their heads tilt and their mouths are gaunt. "No! No! NO!" I wake up from my dream with a start. I wipe at my eyes and blink to adjust. It's just then that I finally notice...doll heads on my wall?! Bloody fingerprints are under my mattress and it is just then that I notice...the broken doll. Enjoy your spooky hauntings!

Halloween is a holiday celebrated each year on October 31. The tradition originated with the ancient Celtic festival of Samhain, when people would light bonfires and wear costumes to ward off ghosts. Your child will be enthralled by an assortment of rhyming tales, including those of witches flying on their broomsticks, jack-o'-lanterns glowing in the night, vampires, werewolves, and other monsters lurking in the shadows, leaves changing colors as the season changes, dressing up and trick-or-treating, indulging in delicious sweets, haunted houses, and eerie things that go bump in the night.

Wee Sing for Halloween iUniverse

This fun collection of original poems and rhymes captures the world of happy, naughty, and fun-loving children and their lives and adventures. It celebrates the delights (eating pie!) and dangers (falling off a bike!) of childhood. It's a clever take on everyday things that children encounter, such as playing in the mud, finishing homework, or baking cakes! The quirky, clever, and funny verses written by Ruth Singh have been brought vividly to life with evocative illustrations by Smita Sarkar. The book with poems accompanied by illustrations introduces young children to poetry and is a perfect gift and a must-have addition to any child's bookshelf.
